Becoming an IGEM Housing Partner

What is IGEM?

IGEM is the professional engineering institution for gas, here to support individuals and organisations connected with the gas industry.

As advocates of excellence, we're here to help those involved in gas to achieve and maintain the highest standards of professional competence.

We do this by providing technical standards, delivering high quality events and courses and by bringing people together through membership to share knowledge, expertise and best practice.

What are IGEM Housing Partners?

We've designed a unique membership package tailored especially for UK social housing providers.

These days, it's more important than ever that housing providers are able to demonstrate their commitment to health and safety, gas compliance and the goals of the net zero agenda.

It's also crucial to stay on top of the latest sector initiatives, including changes to legislation. You can do this by becoming an IGEM Housing Partner.

Who can join?

To be eligible for IGEM Housing Partner status, your organisation must be on the UK government's list of Registered Social Housing Providers. For other organisations and individuals, we have a number of membership options we'd be happy to discuss with you.

Why choose IGEM?

IGEM is developing the standards driving health and safety within the gas industry and we're playing an integral part in helping the UK energy sector achieve its net zero goal by 2050.

By joining us, you're ensuring that your key personnel have access to the knowledge they need to make important operational decisions, safely deliver your installation, maintenance and repair services and comply with the latest requirements to keep your tenants safe.

Unlike trade bodies, we are a Professional Engineering Institution. That means we are a not-for-profit organisation, affiliated to the Engineering Council. Our purpose is to support individuals and organisations connected with the gas industry and our core aim is to help all those involved with gas to achieve and maintain the highest standards of professional competence.

The benefits

- Individual membership with a route to Engineering Council professional registration for your responsible person
- E-learning courses covering gas compliance, assurance, auditing and office-based skills
- Comprehensive training based on IGEM technical standards
- Full access to sector relevant IGEM technical standards
- Sector-specific programme of technical webinars
- Technical webinars exploring hot topics, supported by industry and regulators
- First class speaker event programme, from areas of gas research, development and regulation
- Up-to-date insight and news with IGEM journal Gi and e-bulletins
- Access to IGEMtv
- IGEM Policy and Research Hub access
- IGEM Hydrogen Knowledge Centre access

All of this is underpinned by the support of our Social Housing Working Group (SHWG), consisting of stakeholders drawn from IGEM panels, HSE, service providers and social housing providers themselves.
